

Rodrigues Named Young Leader of the Year for 2008

The Oregon Chapter of the American Public Works Association has recognized a member of the Eugene Public Works Engineering staff as Young Leader of the Year.

Matt Rodrigues, a civil engineer whose responsibilities include managing the City's pavement preservation program, received the Young Leader Award for "setting a great example for those around him with his humble attitude, sense of humor, work ethic, excellent performance and teamwork." Most recently, Rodrigues was selected as project manager to develop Eugene's internal Climate and Energy Plan.
