

Maren Fulton

Currently a senior at Portland State University, I am pursuing my BS in Civil Engineering. After graduation I plan on applying for the Master's of Science in Environmental Engineering Program at Portland State University.

While attending school full-time I worked as an engineering trainee for the Portland Water Bureau for the past two years, first for the Survey group and later transferred to GIS Mapping and Records. Most recently, I am now working as an intern with the Bureau of Environmental Services in the Industrial Stormwater Program.

I have also been active with Portland State's ASCE concrete canoe team for the past two seasons, and am very excited about this coming year's canoe. In my spare time, I enjoy reading non-textbooks, watching movies with friends, and camping on Mt Hood.

Maren Fulton